"Hard Times" in Janesville.

The improvements going on in and about town, and the crowded appearance of our etreets, are by no means indicative of the "hard times" we have so long heard talked up in bu. siness circles. Indeed, were we to rely whelly upon outward appearances we might verily conclude that the pressure was over, and that prosperity again reigned in our midst. Let us take a birds-eye view of the town and it surroundings. The weather is fine and we will pass leisurely through the principal thoroughfares. Main street is crowded with city they were joined by the few who were teams and pedestrians. The shops are well stocked with merchandise, and activity as d thrift are evidently the order of the day at | at 15 minutes to 2 o'clock, they arrived at all the leading business places. Over the Jefferson at 3. There is live company river and up Milwaukee street the busy throng is still extended. Scores of teams, heavily laden with produce, constantly pass pots, and the warehouses. Throngs of passengers, and cars well filled with freight, errive and depart over the different roads, at Fond du Lac, Mr. Ely of Watertown, Mr.

street, and looking back we note other signs of improvement, more substantial than the as the first president of the original compatransient movements we have just recorded. ny, and having, in that capacity, raised the One year ago, a rough board shanty stood first shovel of earth when ground was broken upon the large block of ground immediately for the construction of the road, claimed in front of us. The entire space is now converted into an immense lumber yard, and a comely business office has taken the place H. Smith stated that the road bed between of the rude habitation spoken of. Other Watertown and Janesville had been made lumber yards and other business offices are also springing up and crowding out the old weather beaten structures in the neighbor- peeted delay in receiving the irou. As it hood. Several large buildings hove also was, the whole work had been done in less grown up, among them a farmer's hotel and stables, and a large eating house, saloon and hotel not yet completed.

In the distance looms the high school building and many fine residences upon the bluffs east of the river, all erected within the Passing down centre avenue, we traverse a broad, beautiful street to the lower waterpower. It has been opened within the past yeor, is the widest street in the city, and mearly three-quarters of a mile in length.-Yonder, in the distance, is the blind institute, looking like a recent structure throughout, with its beautiful cupols, and many aubstantial embellishments, added within the year. Acre we have arrived at the lower water-power. A new flouring mill has been added within the past few months and one of the most substantial improvements in the way of a dam we have ever seen, has been made. It is very broad at the base, built of massive rocks, blasted and quarried from the noble quarry near at hand, and hedded many feet below the surface of the river, where it rests upon a solid limestone t foundation, being a dip of the ledge from which the stone were taken to build it. It is estimated that this water-power alone is sufficient for eighty run of stone. Over the river and back by the fair grounds, again we thread our way up Main street. At the corner of Main and Milwaukee street, we pause a moment to view the heavy masoury going up for the foundation of another block of those substantial and massive structures that already characterize the neighborhood in which it is being built. Up the race of the old water-power, · a few rods above the big mill, another flourring mill with two run of stone has been ad first number of the daily will be issued next ded within the year, while just below it is atiil another, a fine structure, exceedingly well and economically built. This latter is mow about completed and will be in full working order within the next ten days at is withest. Still further by at the head of the rnc v, the old saw mill has disappeared within the last few days and active preparations are being made to erect groun its site a substantial fouring mill with three or more run of stone. When finished it will make the eighth flouring mill in operation in the

In rail road extensions, also, the city comes in for a large share of the benefit of what has been done in that line within the state the past season. The Chicago and Northwestern Railway has been completed and will be in running order to Oshkosh, one hundred and ten miles north of this, within the coming week. Altogether, may we not safely claim that Janesville is doing pretty well for "hard times."

The Track Completed.

The last rail in the track between Janesville and Oshkosh, on the Chicago and North-western Railway, was laid Thursday afternoon. Scarcely a person in this city knew anything about it until a train arrived in the evening bringing a large delegation from Fond du Lac, Watertown, and the intermediate points on the road. We are indebted to a friend who accidentally got information of the event, and was one of half a dozen persons who went from this city to witness the ceremony, for the particulars of the report we are enabled to

The morning train from Chicago brought up Mr. Dunlap, the superintendent of the road, and Mr. D. W. Bross, agent of the Pittsburgh and Fort Wayne road, on their way to see the last link connected. At this fortunate enough to be made acquainted with the object of their visit. Leaving here was assembled, the only portion of the unfinished track being a few rods from that village. On the completion of the ceremoand repnas to and from the mills, the de. ny of joining the track, speeches were made by Messrs. A. H. Smith and Isaac Woodle of this city, C. A. Eldredge, of Caswell of Fort Atkinson, Mr. Weymouth of Jefferson, and P. H. Smith, acting president of the company. Mr. A. Hyatt Smith, the privilege of driving the last spike, and this was cheerfully accorded him. Mr. P. ready in 60 days, and the road would have Our assentment is now complete, and we have the been finished in 90 days but for an unexthan four months, and the cash had been paid for it all.

After the connecting rail had been put in, the train passed what had been the gap, amid hearty cheers, and ran into Jefferson. A train with the visitors along the upper part of the line was on the other side, and the two united. The locomotive "Janesville," which has been on the Fond du Lac section for the last five years, and which had brought the down train, proceeded on its way, and brought to this city a load of some 70 or 80 visitors, while the Charles Butler, for the first time, was run to the northern and of the line. On the arrival of the train here, these visitors proceeded to the Hyatt House, where a supper was prepared, and where they were joined by several of our citizens. Messrs. A. Hvatt Smith, C. A. Eldredge, Gov. Barstow, Isaac Woodle and P. H. Smith, were called out, and responded briefly in words of congratulation and joy over the completion of this great inland channel of travel and trade. At 10 o'glock in the evening, "homeward bound" was the command, and soon the conductor's "all aboard" gave the signal to the engineer to start on the homeward trip. As the train started, a round of cheers went up from our citizens on the platform of the depot, which was answered by those on board who had thus had the gratification of a realization at last of their hopes in the opening of a road which has cost years of labor and anxiety, and severely taxed the pockets of Bolles, Smith & O.—Gentlemen: In using Scovill's Stillingia and Sarsparilia, I did so more from the persuasion of friend than from confidence in its merits in my own mind. I had been long in the hands of the ablest physicians without railef. After many years of painful sufferings, afflicted with scaley eruptions over my whole body, and many running sores under my ears, arms, and other places, and life seemed but a burden, I have the pleasure to inform you that I have recovered, and once more enjoy the bleasings which this world affords. All this is the work of your Sarsparilia. I am satisfied that there could be no greater bleasing conferred upon my fellow clitzens than the administration of your Blood and Liver Syrup in sickness and disease. Please acce, assurances of my high consideration, and blieve me your obliged and humble servant, JOHN B. LAWSON. Chicago, Illinois, April 10th, 1859. cctildly
